

Pierrefonds — turnkey rental investment

The Problem

Buying a rental property is a second job. Finding the asset, estimating the works, managing the renovation, finding tenants, handling the administration. Most people who want rental income never get past the first step.

Our Solution

Pierrefonds does all of it. We source the property, run the renovation with our own project managers, furnish it, find the tenant and manage the lease. The investor signs and receives rent.

We built this because it works. Our 2022 cohort delivered an average gross yield of 6.8% across 210 completed operations, and our renovation timelines averaged 4.5 months against a market norm of eight.

The Market

The French rental investment market represents more than €35B in annual transactions. Millions of households want exposure to real estate and lack the time or expertise to manage it directly.

Our 2022 analysis showed a serviceable market of €4B in our six cities, and we see no reason that structural demand has changed: people will always want to own property.

Traction

- 640 operations completed since inception
- €189M in property transacted
- 210 operations in 2022, our record year
- 94 operations in the last twelve months
- average investor rating 4.3/5

The slowdown in the last eighteen months reflects a temporary market adjustment. Transaction volumes across the sector are down, and we have been deliberately selective rather than chasing volume.

Competition

Traditional estate agents sell the property and stop. Property management companies start after the purchase. Nobody covers the whole chain the way we do, which is why we grew as fast as we did.

The Team

Guillaume Perret spent eight years in residential brokerage. Marta Oliveira ran construction project management for a renovation group. Fifty-eight people, down from ninety-one.

Business Model

We charge the investor a sourcing fee of 4% of the property price, a renovation margin, and 6% of rent for ongoing management.

The sourcing fee is the bulk of our revenue and it only arrives on completion, which means our cash flow tracks transaction volume directly.

Funding

We are raising €9M to bridge to recovery and resume growth in our six existing cities.
