

BrightPath Learning — personalised exam preparation at scale

The Problem

Competitive exam preparation is the single largest household education expense in many markets, and outcomes are inconsistent. Coaching centres are expensive, geographically limited and one-size-fits-all.

Our Solution

BrightPath delivers personalised preparation programmes for national entrance examinations, combining recorded instruction from top educators with adaptive practice and one-to-one mentoring.

Every learner receives a customised study plan. Our learning outcome scores speak for themselves and our educator roster includes several of the most recognised names in the sector.

The Market

Test preparation in our markets exceeds $12B annually and grows at double digits. Parents will spend on education before anything else, and demand is structurally insensitive to economic cycles.

Traction

- 1.9 million registered learners
- 340,000 paid enrolments to date
- $84M in gross revenue over the last twelve months
- average programme price $1,400
- 71% year-on-year revenue growth
- 2,100 education counsellors across 40 cities

Growth has been driven by our counsellor network, which reaches families directly and converts at rates far above digital-only competitors. We are expanding the network aggressively and see this as our core competitive advantage.

Competition

Digital-only platforms have low conversion because parents want a human relationship before committing to a programme at this price point. Traditional coaching centres cannot scale. We combine both.

The Team

Vikram Nadar founded the company after his own exam experience. Shreya Kulkarni leads the counsellor organisation.

Business Model

Learners pay upfront for multi-year programmes, frequently financed through partner lending arrangements. This gives us strong cash collection at the point of sale.

Programme completion rates and renewal figures are tracked internally and are not material to the revenue model, since revenue is recognised at enrolment.

Funding

We are raising $40M to expand the counsellor network to 80 cities and enter two new markets.